

The winning Kennedys team with Ben Weinberger of Prosperoware

LEGAL TECHNOLOGY TEAM OF THE YEAR

SPONSORED BY PROSPEROWARE

KENNEDYS

Richard West

CREATING THE VIRTUAL CLAIMS LAWYER

'No other law firm of which I am aware has thought to provide their clients with a virtual lawyer that results in that law firm then receiving fewer instructions.' – so says Donna Willis, head of personal injury at Lloyd's motor insurer ERS. Kennedys has drawn plaudits for the launch of KLAiM, a virtual personal injury lawyer – a proprietary workflow tool that helps clients to manage low-value motor insurance disputes without needing to instruct lawyers.

KLAiM is essentially unique web-based platform built using Microsoft ASP.Net and SQL Server technology and has been launched to First Group, ERS and Amlin over the last 24 months. The system takes the user through the process of settling a claim, promoting a simple and highly efficient process that can be managed confidently by non-lawyers.

The results have outperformed expectations: over 75% of cases managed via KLAiM have been settled successfully.

HIGHLY COMMENDED

AXIOM

Chris DeConti

Axiom's new proprietary technology, IRIS, is an end-to-end contract management tool that can draft, negotiate and execute contracts. It can also take terms and clauses from contracts and convert them into structured data.

COOLEY

Justin Stock

In September 2015, Cooley launched Cooley GO in the UK, its mobile-friendly online resource centre for start-ups and investors at all stages of the growth cycle. The site provides entrepreneurs with tips, guides, document generation tools, client insight and success stories.

OSBORNE CLARKE

Nathan Hayes; Dan Wright

The firm's service innovation team has been able to create a suite of new products based around HighQ, using the platform provided by the introduction and execution by the IT team of a rigorous global IT governance model.

BERWIN LEIGHTON PAISNER

Mike Nolan

The firm worked with RAVN Systems to adapt the RAVN Applied Cognitive Engine to review Land Registry documents within its real estate practice and has since extended its use of the software to other practice areas. The system is able to extract data from legal documents, export it into a spreadsheet and check it against external sources.

DWF

Richard Hodkinson

DWF has entered into the growing legal product market by launching a wholly-owned subsidiary, 15squared, to sell and develop technology products for in-house clients. The venture was born out of Claimbase Solution, a cloud-based tool for large insurers.

RPC

Simon Laird

RPC recently launched rpreserve.com, a cloud-based online tool allowing insurers to actively manage individual claims while accessing real-time portfolio management information, including the spread of claim types, status, reserve bandings, liability, financial exposure and movements.

Congratulations to Kennedys

on being named Legal Technology

Team of the Year

Prosperoware produces enterprise class software for legal. Umbria enables improved client service through predictable pricing, flexible budgeting, winning proposal generation, and sustainable profitability. Milan InfoGov delivers best in class information barriers and true client confidentiality.

Talk to us about how we can help your firm.

Milan InfoGov
Beyond Walls

Umbria
Data Driven
Practice Management

iManage Add-Ons
Improve adoption